Holiday switch is thrown

Light up ceremonies begin the season locally

BY BOB DEMAREE

The Christmas season is underway in Jefferson County with the official kickoff last Friday when festive light displays were turned on in both Madison and Hanover.

The Light Up Merry Madison event Friday at the Broadway Fountain brought out a large crowd to throw the switch on holiday lights at the fountain park.

"There is no other place more special than Madison, Indiana, during Christmas and Thanksgiving," said Madison Mayor Bob Courtney while presiding over the ceremony.

In Hanover, lights for the Tinsel Twinkle Trail were turned on Friday for the second consecutive year at Hanover Community Park with more the 500,000 lights and 100 sculptures — double the inaugural show last year.

Madison's celebration on Friday included the announcement that Luke Ferguson, a student at Rykers' Ridge Elementary, was selected as winner of a contest among elementary students invited to create artwork for city's official Christmas card for 2022. "It's a perfect rendition of Santa Claus," said Courtney, announcing Ferguson as winner.

The festivities will continue this coming Saturday with "A Very Merry Madison Christmas Parade" on Main Street in downtown Madison at 11 a.m., with grand marshal Aaron Kelsey, who retired this year after serving official coordinator of the parade for the last 11 years. After the annual parade, there will be the "A Very Merry Madison Christmas Celebration" at Broadway Street with vendors, free crafts for kids and more until 3 p.m. There will also be a trackless train, ice skating rink and putt-putt course at no cost. Santa Claus and his reindeer will be attend until 1:30 p.m.

Huge MJHS cast to stage 'Beauty and the Beast Junior'

BY BOB DEMAREE

With dozens of students coming out for parts in Madison Junior High School's musical production of "Beauty and the Beast Junior" the theater program will stage not only the musical but a pre-show prior to the main performance.

Musical Director Lindsay Bullock said 90 students came out for parts in the musical with the final number of performers being 80 after some students dropped out due to scheduling conflicts.

As an after-school extracurricular activity, participation in the musical is volunteer. Bullock said that makes the student involvement even more amazing.

It's the biggest turnout she's ever had for a junior high production. In fact, there's not

Democrats defend control of Senate

Next cycle could be tougher with 23 seats at stake

BY MICHELLE L. PRICE
ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — Democrats celebrating a successful effort to keep control of the U.S. Senate this year will soon confront a 2024 campaign that could prove more challenging.

The party enters the next cycle defending 23 seats, including two held by independents who caucus with Democrats. That's compared with just 10 seats that Republicans hope to keep in their column.

Adding to the potential hurdles is that some 2024 contests are in states that have become increasingly hostile to Democrats, including Montana, Ohio and West Virginia. Other Democratic-held seats are in some of the same hotly contested states that were at the center of this year's midterms, such as Pennsylvania, Arizona and Nevada. And while Democrats carried each of those races, they did so at great cost and with sometimes narrow margins. In Nevada, for instance, Democratic incumbent Sen. Catherine Cortez Masto won by less than 1 percentage point, or about 9,000 votes.

Rescuers called for dog, owner on Monday at Clifty

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A call for rescue at Clifty Falls State Park on Monday morning led to a Massachusetts man being cited by an Indiana Conservation Officer for allowing his dog off its leash on one of the park trails.

The dog got away from its owner near Trail 7 underneath Big Clifty. The man went after the animal and was gone long enough that his sister, who was also on the hike, became concerned and called 911 for help, according to Madison Township Fire Department Chief Robert Black, who responded to the call.

After the man slid down the hillside after the dog, both he and the dog ended up in the creek below. Rescuers determined the easiest access was from Trail 8 with park personnel reaching the area in rough terrain partially by ATV and then on foot.

In addition to facing a fine

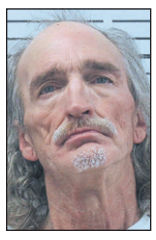
Traffic stop leads to drug seizure

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A Madison Police Department traffic stop involving a known traffic offender resulted in drug charges and the seizure of multiple baggies of methamphetamine and an electronic scale last week.



James Earl Turner

MPD Officer Curtis Shelpman was patrolling on Madison's hilltop at about 1 a.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 22, when he observed a vehicle being driven on Green Road by Jennifer Renecker, whom he knew to have a suspended driver's license. After confirming the suspended status, Shelpman stopped the vehicle and a passenger in the vehicle, identified as James Earl Turner, appeared to be concealing items in a backpack.

While Shelpman was issuing a warning citation to the Renecker, Jefferson County Sheriff's Deputy Laura Pickel arrived with her K9 partner, Kuno, and during an open air sniff around the vehicle the dog alerted to the presence of a narcotic.

During a search of the vehicle, two backpacks belonging to Turner were located and police found inside multiple baggies of methamphetamine and electronic scales consistent with drug sales. More baggies of methamphetamine were located on Turner's person.

Turner, 57 of Madison, was charged with Dealing in Methamphetamine, a Level 3 felony, and lodged in the Jefferson County Jail. Turner's booking information indicates that he also charged with Possession of Marijuana, a Class B misdemeanor, and Possession of Paraphernalia, a Class C misdemeanor. He was lodged on a $20,000 cash bond and a 15-day hold without bail.

Turner has previous felony convictions this year for possession of methamphetamine and forgery.

Born October 29, 1927,
Died October 27, 2022

Norma Blanche Sieferman (Hunnicutt) passed away peacefully on Thursday, October 27, 2022, just two days shy of her 95th birthday. She is survived by her four loving children, Paul Madden, David Madden, Susan Reid, and Linda Madden, her grandchildren, Jennifer Schanze, Julie Schanze, AJ Madden, and Josh Madden, and her great grandchildren, Cara Walten, Ashlyn Little, and Olivia Little.

Norma was born and grew up in Madison, Indiana. She was one of eight children and attended St. Michael's Catholic School, graduating in 1945. She had a long career in civil service as a medical transcriptionist. She was married twice, first to Joseph (Joe) L. Madden, and then to Charles (Chuck) Hunnicutt. As a young adult, Norma lived in Washington D.C., where she met Joe, married and had their four children. In her lifetime, Norma lived in Baltimore, Maryland, Madrid, Spain, Coronado, California and Atwater, California. She later settled in Sacramento where she spent most of her life. Norma enjoyed reading romance novels and playing poker. Most of all, she loved having all of her children and grandchildren together for family dinners.

A memorial mass will be held at Divine Savior Catholic Church in Orangevale, California Monday, December 5, 2022, at 9:00 am. Any remembrances may be made to your local catholic church.

Let Us Pause To Honor The Memory Of

Miss Katherine Ann Jones

Miss Katherine Ann Jones, age 78, of Madison, Indiana, entered this life on May 2, 1944 in Jefferson County, Indiana. She was the loving daughter of the late Morris Henry and Ida Bell Stackhouse Jones. She was a lifelong resident of Jefferson County and graduated from Shawe High School in 1962. Since 2005, she had worked as a caregiver until her health no longer allowed her to do so. Previously, she worked in accounts receivable at Wolohan Lumber Company for 19 years and Dunlap's Lumber Company for 21 years. She was a member of Prince of the Peace Catholic Church. She loved her dog, Sophie and loved the holidays, especially Christmas. Katherine died on Friday, November 25, 2022, at 7:19 p.m. at the Waters of Clifty Falls in Madison, Indiana.

A LOVING FAMILY

Katherine will be missed by her sister in law, Charlotte Jones of Louisville, Kentucky; her nephews and her nieces, Billy and Sandy Jones, Stephanie and Jeff Faulkner, Corynne Jones, Todd Jones, Terry Jones, and Maurice Glenn Jones, Jr.; several great nephews, great nieces and other relatives. TODAY IN HISTORY

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHT IN HISTORY:

On Nov. 29, 1947, the U.N. General Assembly passed a resolution calling for the partitioning of Palestine between Arabs and Jews; 33 members, including the United States, voted in favor of the resolution, 13 voted against while 10 abstained. (The plan, rejected by the Arabs, was never implemented.)

ON THIS DATE:

In 1864, a Colorado militia killed at least 150 peaceful Cheyenne Indians in the Sand Creek Massacre.

In 1910, British explorer Robert F. Scott's ship Terra Nova set sail from New Zealand, carrying Scott's expedition on its ultimately futile — as well as fatal — race to reach the South Pole first.

In 1924, Italian composer Giacomo Puccini died in Brussels before he could complete his opera "Turandot." (It was finished by Franco Alfano.)

In 1929, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Richard E. Byrd, pilot Bernt Balchen, radio operator Harold June and photographer Ashley McKinney made the first airplane flight over the South Pole.

In 1961, Enos the chimp was launched from Cape Canaveral aboard the Mercury-Atlas 5 spacecraft, which orbited earth twice before returning.

In 1963, President Lyndon B. Johnson named a commission headed by Earl Warren to investigate the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In 1981, film star Natalie Wood drowned in a boating accident off Santa Catalina Island, California, at age 43.

In 1986, actor Cary Grant died in Davenport, Iowa, at age 82.

In 1987, a Korean Air 707 jetliner en route from Abu Dhabi to Bangkok was destroyed by a bomb planted by North Korean agents with the loss of all 115 people aboard.

In 2001, former Beatle George Harrison died in Los Angeles following a battle with cancer; he was 58.

In 2008, Indian commandos killed the last remaining gunmen holed up at a luxury Mumbai hotel, ending a 60-hour rampage through India's financial capital by suspected Pakistani-based militants that killed 166 people.

In 2020, Mayor Bill de Blasio announced that New York City would reopen its school system to in-person learning, and increase the number of days a week many children attend class, even as the coronavirus pandemic intensified in the city.

Ten years ago: The United Nations voted overwhelmingly to recognize a Palestinian state, a vote that came exactly 65 years after the General Assembly adopted a plan to divide Palestine into separate states for Jews and Arabs. (The vote was 138 in favor; nine members, including the United States, voted against and 41 abstained.) President Barack Obama had lunch with defeated Republican nominee Mitt Romney in the White House's private dining room; the White House says they discussed America's leadership in the world.

Five years ago: North Korea launched its most powerful weapon yet, claiming a new type of intercontinental ballistic missile that some observers believed could put the entire U.S. East Coast within range. "Today" host Matt Lauer was fired for what NBC called "inappropriate sexual behavior" with a colleague; a published report accused him of crude and habitual misconduct with women around the office. Garrison Keillor, who'd entertained public radio listeners for 40 years on "A Prairie Home Companion," was fired by Minnesota Public Radio following allegations of inappropriate workplace behavior.

One year ago: A federal judge blocked the Biden administration from enforcing a coronavirus vaccine mandate on thousands of health care workers in 10 states that had brought the first legal challenge against the requirement. Twitter co-founder Jack Dorsey stepped down as CEO of the social media platform; he was succeeded by Twitter's chief technology officer, Parag Agrawal. LSU hired Brian Kelly away from Notre Dame, a stunning move by one of the most accomplished coaches in college football jumping from the sport's most storied program to a Southeastern Conference powerhouse. Arlene Dahl, a 1950s movie star who later remained prominent in television, died in New York at 96. Merriam-Webster chose "vaccine" as its 2021 word of the year.

Today's Birthdays: Blues singer-musician John Mayall is 89. Actor Diane Ladd is 87. Songwriter Mark James is 82. Composer-musician Chuck Mangione is 82. Pop singer-musician Felix Cavaliere (The Rascals) is 80. Former Olympic skier Suzy Chaffee is 76. Actor Jeff Fahey is 70. Movie director Joel Coen is 68. Actor-comedian-celebrity judge Howie Mandel is 67. Former Homeland Security Director Janet Napolitano is 65. Former Chicago Mayor Rahm Emanuel is 63.

TODAY IN HISTORY

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHT IN HISTORY:

On Nov. 30, 1782, the United States and Britain signed preliminary peace articles in Paris for ending the Revolutionary War; the Treaty of Paris was signed in September 1783.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1803, Spain completed the process of ceding Louisiana to France, which had sold it to the United States.

In 1874, British statesman Sir Winston Churchill was born at Blenheim Palace.

In 1981, the United States and the Soviet Union opened negotiations in Geneva aimed at reducing nuclear weapons in Europe.

In 1982, the motion picture "Gandhi," starring Ben Kingsley as the Indian nationalist leader, had its world premiere in New Delhi.

In 1993, President Bill Clinton signed the Brady Bill, which required a five-day waiting period for handgun purchases and background checks of prospective buyers.

In 2004, "Jeopardy!" fans saw Ken Jennings end his 74-game winning streak as he lost to real estate agent Nancy Zerg.

In 2010, the Obama administration announced that all 197 airlines that flew to the U.S. had begun collecting names, genders and birth dates of passengers so the government could check them against terror watch lists before they boarded flights.

In 2011, an Arizona jury sentenced convicted "Baseline Killer" Mark Goudeau (goo-DOH') to death for killing nine people in the Phoenix area. (He remains on death row.)

In 2013, Paul Walker, 40, the star of the "Fast & Furious" movie series, died with his friend, Roger W. Rodas, who was at the wheel of a Porsche sports car that crashed and burned north of Los Angeles.

In 2018, former President George H.W. Bush, a World War II hero who rose through the political ranks to the nation's highest office, died at his Houston home at the age of 94; his wife of more than 70 years, Barbara Bush, had died in April.

Ten years ago: Israel approved the construction of 3,000 homes in Jewish settlements on occupied lands, drawing swift condemnation from the Palestinians a day after their successful bid for recognition by the United Nations. Tens of thousands of protesters took to the streets in Egypt, denouncing President Mohammed Morsi and a draft constitution that was approved earlier in the day by his Islamist allies.

Five years ago: House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi called on veteran Democratic congressman John Conyers to resign in the face of multiple accusations of sexual misconduct. (Conyers resigned five days later.) A jury found a Mexican man not guilty in the killing of a woman on a San Francisco pier, a shooting that touched off a fierce national immigration debate. (Jose Ines Garcia Zarate, who had been deported five times, did not deny shooting Kate Steinle but said it was an accident. He was found guilty of being a felon in possession of a firearm.) Rapper DMX pleaded guilty to tax fraud, admitting he concealed millions of dollars in revenue to dodge $1.7 million in taxes. (The rapper was sentenced to a year in prison.) Actor Jim Nabors, best known as TV's "Gomer Pyle," died at the age of 87.

One year ago: Ethan Crumbley, a 15-year-old sophomore, opened fire at a Michigan high school, killing four students and wounding seven other people; school staff had discovered his violent drawings but his parents wouldn't remove him from school. (The parents, James and Jennifer Crumbley, are accused of making the gun accessible and ignoring their son's mental health needs; they face charges including involuntary manslaughter.) The Biden administration moved to toughen testing requirements for international travelers to the U.S., including both vaccinated and unvaccinated people, amid the spread of the omicron variant of the coronavirus. CNN took Chris Cuomo off the air indefinitely, saying information released by New York's attorney general showed that he had played a greater role than he had previously acknowledged in defense of his brother, former New York Gov. Andrew Cuomo, as he fought sexual harassment charges. (Cuomo would be fired days later.)

Today's Birthdays: Country singer-recording executive Jimmy Bowen is 85. Movie director Ridley Scott is 85. Screenwriter Geoffrey C. Ward is 82. Movie writer-director Terrence Malick is 79. Rock musician Roger Glover (Deep Purple) is 77. Playwright David Mamet (MA'-meht) is 75. Actor Mandy Patinkin is 70. Musician Shuggie Otis is 69. Country singer Jeannie Kendall is 68. Singer Billy Idol is 67. Historian Michael Beschloss is 67. Rock musician John Ashton (The Psychedelic Furs) is 65. Comedian Colin Mochrie is 65. Former football and baseball player Bo Jackson is 60. Rapper Jalil (Whodini) is 59. Actor-director Ben Stiller is 57. Rock musician Mike Stone is 53.

enough room on the stage for all 80 students so, in order to give all students a chance be involved, there will be a 15-minute pre-show with a choral medley of Disney songs with those same students will also performing in the finale of the musical.

"I don't believe in cutting them because we're in junior high and we're building a program" Bullock said of the Madison Consolidated Schools theater department, "My job is to build them up. I don't cut kids from the production."

The Junior musical is a shortened one-hour, 15-minute adaptation of the original Broadway production, Beauty and the Beast.

The classic story tells of Belle, a young woman in a provincial town, and the Beast, who is really a young prince trapped under the spell of an enchantress. If the Beast can learn to love and be loved, the curse will end and he will be transformed to his former self. But time is running out. If the Beast does not learn his lesson soon, he and his household will be doomed for all eternity.

Performances will be at Madison Consolidated High School's Opal Sherman Auditorium on Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m. and Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Tickets at the door are $10 for adults and $7 for students. Tickets are also available online at https://our.show/beauty at $8 for adults and $5 for students.

"I'm super excited," said Bullock. "I hope people come and support these kids because they've worked really hard."

The musical stars include Owain Kelsey as Gaston, Suzannah Bailey as Belle, Adavious Gigax as the Beast/Prince and Maya Bullock at Lumiere.

For Gigax, Bullock and Kelsey, the roles provide challenges in that the characters are different than themselves. Gigax as the Beast becomes a big, hairy monster while Maya Bullock as Lumiere becomes a candle stick. And Kelsey takes on the role of Gaston, depicted as a narcissistic, self-centered and selfish individual. "This one is a little off my personality which I really like because I feel like it's more challenging, and helps with my acting in general," Kelsey said.

Even as roles cause them to take on different personalities, Maya Bullock said, "Once you get into costume you really do feel that character and feel more connected to that character, and helps you to act a lot more to that character." She said the audience will likely feel the same way. "You see the show really come together and it's amazing, it's magical."

Hanover's Quionones celebrates 100th birthday

Hanover Nursing Center last week had a resident, Lottie Quionones, celebrate a milestone by turning 100 years old on Friday, Nov. 25.

Quionones was born at her family's home in Oklahoma on Saturday, Nov. 25, 1922, as one of 13 children — including a twin brother — and has lived in Hanover since 2017.

She lived in Arizona from 1941 to 2005 and in the Dallas/Fort Worth area from then until moving to Hanover. She has been Jehovah's witness since 1941 and was married in 1963 with five children, 13 grandchildren, 41 great grandchildren and 20 great-great grandchildren. Her most important things in life were raising her family and being a Jehovah's Witness.

She and her husband remodeled houses and owned a restaurant.

Quionones and one sister remain from her 13 total siblings.

SENATE

For now, both parties insist they're laser focused on coming out on top in the Dec. 6 Senate runoff in Georgia. But Democrats who are on the ballot in 2024 know that they could face fierce headwinds and are studying the results of this year's election, when the party outperformed expectations.

For Nevada Sen. Jacky Rosen, a Democrat facing her first reelection, that means staying focused on kitchen table issues and touting legislation like the infrastructure law and gun legislation signed by President Joe Biden.

"We know that races are always close," Rosen said in an interview. "We never take anything for granted."

The dynamics of the next Senate campaign could be influenced by a variety of outside factors, particularly the presidential election and the attention it generates. Biden, who turned 80 this month, has said his "intention" is to run for reelection and that he will make a final decision early next year. Former President Donald Trump has already announced a third White House bid, and multiple other Republicans are lining up to launch campaigns. The eventual nominee in each party could have a profound impact on down-ballot races, including those for Senate.

But perhaps the biggest question for Senate Democrats seeking reelection will be who Republicans nominate as their opponents. The GOP lost several Senate elections this year, including those in Arizona, Pennsylvania and Nevada, after Trump-backed candidates struggled to raise money and connect with a broader, more moderate range of voters during the general election.

In Nevada, the Republican field to challenge Rosen has not begun to shape up but is expected to attract several contenders. One name receiving attention is Sam Brown, a former U.S. Army captain who was awarded a Purple Heart after being severely wounded in Afghanistan.

DAMAGE LIMITED AT MILTON FIRE

Elsewhere, firefighters responded to a fire at the Churchwood Apartments in Milton, Kentucky, on Saturday.

Milton Fire and Rescue, along with Bedford Fire and Rescue, Madison city and Madison Township fire departments, responded to a report of fire and smoke at 100 Churchwood Lane at 7:04 p.m. on Saturday.

The fire was confirmed to be in the attic of one of the apartments, and quick action contained the fire to the attic and one apartment, saving several other apartments and personal belongings. There were no injuries.

The cause of the fire was determined to be electrical.

MADISON COURIER BOYS CROSS COUNTRY RUNNER OF THE YEAR

Dedication is what sets Pacers' Hon apart

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Cross country and track are considered "individual" sports, but when Cooper Hon injured his ankle during the conference track meet in May, his first concern wasn't his own well-being, but rather that of his team.

"Cooper's ankle had been bothering him, but the final straw was his kick to win on the homestretch during the final leg of the 4 x 800 at conference. He crossed the finish line and couldn't put pressure on his ankle," Switzerland County coach Meganmarie Dennis said. "One of his main concerns after he found out he couldn't run any of his other conference races that day, was if his kick was enough for his four by 800 team to be All-Conference and for all of them to go to the conference dinner. I saw the same dedication during cross country; he was always asking what place he would need to get so that his team could advance."

Cooper Hon had a fantastic cross country season this year, but it wasn't just the individual accolades that made the Switzerland County sophomore the Madison Courier Boys Cross Country Runner of the Year for the second-straight year. It was his desire to put the team first, even in a sport that rewards individual success.

A quiet leader who doesn't talk much, Hon nevertheless has already left his mark on the Switzerland County program in his first two years on varsity.

"Cooper tends to stay pretty quiet unless you get him talking about upcoming competition or training plans," Dennis said. "He leads by example with his offseason training and dedication during the season."

Whether it was facing Milan's strong runner in conference or Austin's top-heavy dominating team, Hon squared off against some of the best runners in southern Indiana while reaching the semistate. He finished second in the Ohio River Valley Conference meet at Hanover College and placed eighth in the sectional at Hardy Lake. He ran a strong 15th in the regional before coming in 95th at semistate.

Nina Campbell

Switzerland County sophomore Cooper Hon is the 2022 Madison Courier Boys Cross Country Runner of the Year.

Regardless of which meet he was at, Hon was running with the best, noting he just did what he could to run with them.

"I just try to hang on to someone and just that last mile just kick it as hard as I can to see what I could do," Hon said. "I like it. I like it a lot. I liked the competition and having people trying to push me. They helped me run better, because they're faster."

Hon has been running since he could walk. He mother started a cross country program at his previous school so that Cooper could have that outlet and he made an immediate impact after transferring to Switzerland County before his freshman year.

Dennis said that having that love and dedication for a sport is not something that you can teach.

"Cooper is a true competitor, no matter what race it is or who he is running against, he goes out striving to win. He is a cross country runner who truly loves to compete," Dennis said. "Not many people could put in the mileage that he does then go home and bike more or swim more. He has set high goals for himself and constantly strives to achieve those goals. His competitive spirit makes it so fun

BASKETBALL ROUNDUP

Craig's 46 leads Switzerland to 89-70 win over Austin

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Sophomore Cam Craig poured in a career-high 46 points to lead Switzerland County to a season-opening 89-70 win over Austin Saturday on the road.

Craig, who led the Pacers in scoring as a freshman at more than 20 points per game, torched the Eagles all night as Switzerland built an early lead.

The Pacers led 26-13 after the first quarter, 43-26 at halftime and 62-42 after three quarters while cruising to the win.

Craig was 17-for-25 shooting from the floor and hit two of the three 3-pointers he attempted. He was also 10-of-16 from the free-throw line and pulled down 11 rebounds and blocked three shots.

The 46 points is three shy of the Pacers' school record, set by Chase Kelso in 1997.

Jacob Williams added 14 points, eight rebounds and four assists for the Pacers and Canaan Johnson scored nine.

Switzerland, now 1-0 on the season, travels to Clarksville on Saturday.

SHAWE FALLS TO MUSTANGS

Mason Arthur and Matthew Arthur scored more than 20 points each to lead New Washington over Shawe 67-31 in boys basketball Saturday at home.

Chloe Preocanin

Switzerland County sophomore Cam Craig scored a career-high 46 points to lead the Pacers to an 89-70 win over Austin in their season opener on Saturday at Austin.

Mason Arthur was 8-of-10 on 3-point attempts while Matthew Arthur also had 10 rebounds and eight assists.

The brothers led the Mustangs to a 24-9 lead after the first quarter, 44-16 at halftime and 51-25 after three quarters.

"They jumped on us quickly and put us in a big hole by halftime," Shawe coach Dan Hambrick said.

Wyatt Nichter led Shawe with 11 points while Philip Kahn scored six and Eric Liu and Eli Turner had four points each.

Shawe, now 1-1 on the season, travels to Southwestern on Friday as part of a boys-girls doubleheader.

HANOVER WOMEN BEAT CENTRE

Hanover's women used a big third quarter to pull away to a 65-47 basketball win over Centre Sunday in Danville, Kentucky.

The Panthers led 13-5 after the first quarter but found themselves in a 24-23 hole at halftime. But Hanover took control in the third quarter, outscoring the Colonels 26-11 to retake the lead and never look back.

Grace Bezold scored 22 points on 10-of-19 shooting to go with nine rebounds to lead Hanover while Katherine Benter scored 13 points and had seven rebounds.

Taylor Heath added nine points, four rebounds, five assists and five steals.

Hanover, now 3-2 on the season, opens Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference play at home on Wednesday when it hosts Anderson.

The Panthers then travel to Bluffton on Saturday.

Bucket List: Purdue earns Big Ten title game bid with win at Indiana

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

BLOOMINGTON — Purdue quarterback Aidan O'Connell started his college career as an afterthought, buried on the depth chart.

On Saturday, he checked off yet another big box on his Bucket list.

The sixth-year quarterback threw for 290 yards and two scores, Devin Mockobee ran for 99 yards and another touchdown and the Boilermakers dominated rival Indiana 30-16, to clinch their first Big Ten West Division title and a date in next week's conference championship game.

"It's a dream come true, and it took a lot of work from a lot of us," O'Connell said on Purdue's postgame radio broadcast. "I've been through some really tough years here. Hopefully, we can celebrate again next week."

Sure, the title game looks like a mismatch between Purdue (8-4, 6-3) and No. 3 Michigan (12-0, 9-0, No. 3 CFP).

But the Boilermakers are hot. They've won three straight and six of eight, beaten Illinois and Indiana to keep both trophies, posted back-to-back eight-win seasons for the first time since 1997-98 and can win their first league crown since 2000.

"It's a heck of a job by our football team," coach Jeff Brohm said. "This is a goal and dream that you never really think is going to happen. We had some luck go against other teams in our division, but I couldn't be prouder of our guys."

For Indiana (4-8, 2-7), not much went right this season after a promising 3-0 start. The Hoosiers lost eight of their last nine — and starting quarterback Dexter Williams II with a serious right leg, non-contact injury late in the first quarter Saturday.

"It was a devastating loss," coach Tom Allen said. "He did great job last week. Just a freaky, non-contact injury that I can't put into words. You try to play to the strengths of our room and I thought we had a great plan. It's tough, just tough. Hate it for him."

With Williams, Indiana had Purdue on its heels and its title hopes in jeopardy. Without him, O'Connell and Mockobee eventually got the Boilermakers righted in the second half.

O'Connell opened the third quarter with a 15-yard TD pass to Payne Durham to take a 10-7 lead. Mockobee fooled Indiana's defense on the next series, sprinting around the end on third-and-1 and going 27 yards to make it 17-7.

The Boilermakers sealed it on O'Connell's 60-yard TD pass to Charlie Jones and Cory Trice's 8-yard interception for a score in the closing minutes.

"I'm proud we could do it, proud of my teammates," O'Connell said.

THE TAKEAWAY

Purdue: The Boilermakers weren't the preseason favorite in the wild, wild West, but they took advantage of a favorable schedule and used critical road wins at Minnesota, Illinois and Indiana to earn a ticket to Indy. They'll face a much more daunting task next week.

Indiana: What started out with such promise ended with yet another thud. An inconsistent offense put too much stress on a defense that eventually broke down in games. Yes, the Hoosiers won the Old Brass Spittoon last week but they couldn't play spoiler Saturday.

TOUGH BREAK

Williams went down with 46 seconds left in the first quarter as he planted his leg to look downfield. When he turned, he, fell immediately fell to the ground with nobody near him.

Burrow's TD pass to Higgins lifts Bengals over Titans 20-16

BY TERESA M. WALKER
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The Cincinnati Bengals have a knack for beating the Tennessee Titans at their own game — by playing more physical and forcing the opponent into mistakes at the wrong time.

They did it again Sunday.

Joe Burrow threw a 27-yard touchdown pass to Tee Higgins with 13:42 left to put Cincinnati ahead to stay, and the Bengals held off the Tennessee Titans 20-16 on Sunday for their third straight victory and fifth in six games.

"This is the kind of game that great teams win," Burrow said. "It's not always going to be pretty. This is the NFL. You're playing really, really good teams on the opposing end. You've got to find ways to win, and we're starting to do that."

The defending AFC champion Bengals (7-4) won the rematch of their divisional playoff victory over Tennessee despite not having running back Joe Mixon because he hadn't cleared the concussion protocol.

Also, receiver Ja'Marr Chase, the reigning AP NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year, missed a fourth straight game with a hip injury.

Cincinnati has won three straight over Tennessee and five of six. Burrow, sacked nine times by Tennessee in that divisional loss by the Titans, went down only once. Burrow threw for 270 yards, and Higgins finished with 114 yards on seven catches as the Bengals moved into a first-place tie with Baltimore in the AFC North.

"We wouldn't trade our quarterback for anybody on the planet and so we're glad to have him," Cincinnati coach Zac Taylor said.

Evan McPherson kicked a pair of field goals for the Bengals. He connected on a third with 1:53 left, but Titans lineman Kevin Strong was flagged for unnecessary roughness after landing on the long snapper.

That nullified the kick but allowed the Bengals to run out the clock.

Titans two-time All-Pro Kevin Byard said it looked like two teammates hit the snapper. Strong said he was "totally shocked" to learn he was flagged, knowing defenders can't line up on the snapper or hit him in the head.

"Once he hikes the ball and has his head up, you can come through," Strong said. "I was just trying to get in the A gap. I wasn't intentionally trying to hit him in the head. I made a mistake, and I take that one and put it on me. I just have to do better for my team."

The Titans (7-4) equaled their most points allowed since a Week 2 loss at Buffalo as their two-game winning streak ended. This was just the second time since that loss that Tennessee gave up more than 17, matching the 20 points allowed in an overtime loss at Kansas City.

Cincinnati smothered NFL rushing leader Derrick Henry yet again, holding him to 38 yards, his second-lowest total of the season. Tennessee tried to rally by throwing to Henry, and he had a career-best 79 yards receiving.

"We just couldn't get nothing started in the run game, and I mean they executed," Henry said. "They played better than we did."

Taylor credited the Bengals with executing coordinator Lou Anarumo's plan perfectly.

"They put pressure on him the entire game," Taylor said of Henry. "They hit the quarterback, and they made play after play to win us back the field position there in the second half and allow us to go win it."

Ryan Tannehill threw for 291 yards, but the Titans couldn't score a touchdown in three trips to the red zone. They settled for three field goals in four tries by rookie Caleb Shudak, who made his first NFL start in place of veteran Randy Bullock. Shudak missed a 35-yarder to the right just before halftime.

The Titans played their second straight game without center Ben Jones, a loss that showed as they were flagged twice for false starts on their opening drive.

Bengals running back Samaje Perine scored on a 7-yard TD run that tied it at 10 with 1:55 left in the first half.

McPherson, who won the playoff game in January at Tennessee with a field goal as time expired, tied it up with a 47-yarder early in the second quarter. His 38-yarder gave Cincinnati its first lead, 13-10, late in the third.

Tennessee scored its only TD with a bit of luck. Tannehill tossed a short pass to Henry, who ran 69 yards before Cam Taylor-Britt poked the ball out at the Bengals 6.

Rookie Treyon Burks recovered the ball in the end zone for his first career touchdown and a 10-3 lead.

INJURIES

Bengals right tackle La'el Collins went down late in the third quarter but returned later in the same drive.

Titans linebacker David Long Jr. went to the medical tent but returned a couple plays later. Tannehill came up gimpy after one play late and said he tweaked the right ankle that cost him two games earlier this season.

UP NEXT

Cincinnati starts a two-game homestand next Sunday when it hosts AFC West leader Kansas City, a conference best 9-2 overall.

The Titans visit Philadelphia next Sunday.

Bates, Johnson lead No. 11 Indiana past Jackson State 90-51

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

BLOOMINGTON — Tamar Bates celebrated his best college game, first with his Indiana teammates and then with his 8-month-old daughter, Leilani, who sat on his lap as he answered postgame questions.

For Bates, it was the epitome of holiday weekend he'll never forget. The sophomore guard made four 3-pointers and scored 22 points, both career highs, while Xavier Johnson added a season-best 16 points and No. 11 Indiana routed Jackson State 90-51 on Friday.

"When he first came in, he would talk trash," Johnson said. "Now, this summer, he grew up a lot. He's really matured."

The result: Bates and Johnson delivered the two-pronged scoring punch that Indiana has been seeking through its first three weeks of the season.

Bates and Johnson didn't just thrive in the unusual matinee time slot — they provided the spark the Hoosiers (6-0) needed to take control, going 14 of 22 from the field with each making four 3s and finishing with four assists. Preseason All-American Trayce Jackson-Davis finished with 11 points and five rebounds in 19 minutes after sitting out Wednesday's game with a sore back. Jackson State was led by Trace Young with 13 points. Ken Evans Jr. had 10 points and seven rebounds for the Tigers (0-5), who trailed by double digits for the final 30 minutes.

"They're tall and long and athletic, and when you watch film it seems that everyone's bought into their role," first-year Jackson State coach Mo Williams said. " That's the definition of a top-10 team. I know what the signs are of a top-10 team and that's a top-10 team."

Indiana coach says Vegas tourney set back women's basketball

BY MARK ANDERSON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LAS VEGAS — Indiana women's basketball coach Teri Moren said she considered not playing Memphis on Saturday night in the Las Vegas Invitational because no paramedics were on site to tend to an injured Auburn player in the preceding game.

Auburn freshman Kharyssa Richardson fell hard to the floor with four minutes left against Colorado State and appeared to bang her head. There was a 50-minute wait for EMT personnel to arrive to The Mirage on the Las Vegas Strip, delaying the Indiana-Memphis games by nearly 90 minutes.

In addition to the injury delay, there was no security personnel for Friday's action, and fans sat in folding chairs instead of bleachers both days. Moren said she didn't have an issue with the quality of the playing surface or with the event being held in a resort ballroom.

She said she received an apology from site coordinator Ryan Polk, who declined to comment.

"I think there are other people that probably need to apologize as well for wanting us to come and play in this event," Moren said. "This is not what was described to us as far as what the venue was going to look like, what the setup was going to look like."

As for Auburn's Richardson, she eventually was carted off the court and transported to a Las Vegas hospital. Auburn tweeted later that she was alert, and a team spokesman said he didn't have a further update. Polk said Richardson was moving her hands and feet. Auburn won 74-73.

Hon said that his ankle injury from track still affected him at the start of cross country and now that the season is over, he plans on taking some time off to rest and heal. But then it's back to work as he strives for his ultimate goal.

"I want to go to state and see what I can do there. And just make a good name for the school," Hon said. "Do the best I can for my team and my coaches and everyone."

Dennis can't wait to see what the future holds and knows that if anybody can achieve his goals, it's Hon.

"I am continually impressed by his competitive drive and level of dedication to improving. He's going to continue to put in the miles on the off season and find ways to push himself," Dennis said. "I look forward to seeing him have the chance to finish out his track season this next time around and I know that we will use that as a solid jumping off point for his next cross country season."

Teammates gathered round and some Purdue players took a knee as doctors put an air cast on the leg and strapped Williams to a stretcher. He eventually went to a nearby hospital for further evaluation. The redshirt sophomore from Macon, Georgia, was making his second straight start.

STAT PACK

Purdue: O'Connell was 18 of 29 with no interceptions. ... Jones had four catches for 143 yards and now has 97 receptions this season after starting this season with a total of 21 in college. ... Mockobee also has five receptions for 58 yards.

Indiana: Bazelak replaced Williams following the injury and wound up 24 of 42 with 201 yards, one interception and one score. ... Jaylin Lucas had nine carries for 100 yards including a 71-yard TD run on Indiana's second play.

UP NEXT

Purdue: The Boilermakers face Michigan for the first time since September 2017. The Wolverines have won the last four since Purdue produced back-to-back wins in 2008-09.

Indiana: Coach Tom Allen's first task in another challenging offseason is sorting out the quarterback situation.

Elder parents ponder full financial disclosure

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: Neither my wife nor I came from money. But thanks to a lot of hard work, good choices — and luck — our children will come into money.

Both of our kids are grown, married to terrific partners, and on good career paths. My wife and I are in our late 60s and in good health and we're thinking about giving them a full picture of the extent of the potential estate when we're all together at the holidays.

Is there any reason not to do that? We trust both them and their spouses.

If so, how much information should we give? Should we give them specific dollar amounts for each account? Provide all account numbers? Should we provide copies of our wills?

There's no mystery to our wills. My wife and I each leave our estate to the other upon either of our deaths, and the remainder equally to each child once the surviving spouse dies.

I don't see any reason to have any mystery. I'd like to make it simple for them to sort things out when the time comes. Plus, it would help in their own financial planning.

What do you think?

— Doting Dad

Dear Doting: My opinion is that you should keep your specific financial affairs private until you have the qualified counsel of your financial planner and choose an executor (possibly one or both of your children, or perhaps a younger friend, niece or nephew).

I do think it is important for you to let your children know that you and your wife are doing well financially, that your wills are drawn up, and that they will inherit equally. I don't think it's necessary for them to see your wills.

If you do decide to disclose the particulars, do not share your bank and investment account numbers with them. These should be kept private.

Let your children and executor know where your documents are located (keep these updated with all passwords included) and make sure they can contact your lawyer and investment adviser.

Medical directives and power-of-attorney decisions are also important components of this discussion.

An in-law's unfiltered comment leaves a mark

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: I am shocked and hurt by comments my brother-in-law made to me during the recent otherwise wonderful trip my husband and I took with him and my sister.

He is the most physically healthy of all of us, but perhaps he is losing his filters as we aging people sometimes do.

We live in separate states and have traveled extensively as couples over the last 15 years — usually twice a year. Both couples have been married for 50 years.

At the end of our most recent trip (outside of others' hearing) my brother-in-law insisted that I had married the wrong person.

I was shocked, denied this, but was too taken aback to ask why he thought this.

I love my husband. He is a wonderful, loving, kind and generous man.

He would be extremely hurt by this comment, since he believes that the two men have developed a close friendship over more than 50 years.

I have been obsessing, perhaps grieving, over this comment.

I wonder if we should stop traveling together, though this would be very painful for at least three of us.

What do you think about this? What should I say or do?

— Saddened and Hurt

Dear Saddened: The first thing you should do is examine why this comment has caused you to grieve so deeply. Confronted with this unsolicited opinion after 50 years of happy marriage might inspire you more toward laughter than grief.

You have a burning desire to learn why he said this, but ask yourself: What good would it do to hear a recitation of your husband's unsuitability?

Taking into account all of the variables, if you still feel compelled to ask about this, do so (not through your sister). There is some likelihood that he will either deny — or will not remember — having made the comment that has caused you so much angst.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — You could debate someone who is headstrong but sincere. If you engage in flirtatious banter, however, you may end up in a difficult situation. Spend extra time investigating sound financial and business tactics.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — It would be a better plan to conserve resources now, even if you are tempted to frivolously spend some money or pick up a big tab. Never compromise your long-term well-being to earn some brief outside validation.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — It may be smarter to avoid an argument than to start one. There are times when it is necessary to defend yourself but, in most instances, you can pass up a challenge. Speak up if a loved one or partner makes a poor decision.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Be frugal with your money and generous with your heart. A change of attitude can solve a problem with a friend or a dilemma about how to achieve a goal. A loved one might share a clever business strategy.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Honor old obligations, but if they're no longer relevant, have a conversation. Financial plans that require intelligent long-term strategies can be more profitable than impulsive knee-jerk reactions to the markets.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — If you worry about pleasing the crowd, you could do something dumb rather than something smart. Decisions that could impact your home or family should go on the back burner while you gather more information.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22.) — Make the most of your time and get things done in the most efficient way. Afterward, you might want to find someone to hang out with. Social activities or an innocent flirtation can brighten up your day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — This is not a good time to buy something for your home or listen to advice from family members. Your business strategies can be more successful if you think them through and wait for better timing to act.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — A heavy dose of wisdom might be needed to navigate an array of fleeting tensions. A loved one or business partner may push you to be more active and sociable. Avoid making important decisions today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Someone may challenge you to think outside the box. The fastest route between two opposing points is always a straight line. Be direct and to the point to make your job easier when dealing with others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Facts and figures might give you a stronger grip on a key relationship than the whisper of sweet nothings. Sure, you would like to have fun and socialize, but there may be a point of contention to settle first.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Enjoy an opportunity to escape the restrictions of dull routines. Your judgement may not be at its best, so put important decisions aside. You might be able to achieve your goals if you pay attention to a friend's original ideas.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Rituals and rites of passage help us commemorate important milestones.. Your wisdom grows as you learn to handle irrational situations. A loved one may enjoy your flirtatious antics, but other people might Not understand.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Following powerful and sensible business policies helps you pull more weight despite any disapproval. Not everyone may be able to be completely open now. Avoid getting drawn in to a pointless competition.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — You may be in too much of a hurry and inadvertently overstep someone's personal boundaries. Miscommunications can cause misunderstandings. Ignore challenges to your patience and Remain in your center.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Get in step with someone who has strong ambitions. If you are on the right track, things can quickly fall in place. This is not a good day to make large credit card purchases or to alter your investment holdings.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Someone close can land in the doghouse if they offer too much criticism. When you stay 100% in your integrity, you always remain above reproach. Put crucial decisions on the back burner for a few more days.

VIRGO (Aug. 23- Sept. 22) — Business before pleasure might be your motto today. It can be more productive to put your best efforts into an activity that rivets your attention and attracts your passion. A partner or loved one may not communicate clearly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22.) — There may be no other choice than to go along with the crowd if you are actively involved with other people in something now. Check in with yourself before you participate in extracurricular activities to please someone.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — You and a partner or loved one might be on the same wavelength when it comes to pushing ahead with wise business strategies. Nevertheless, there could be a temporary breakdown in key communications today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Dealing with some people might require you to walk on eggshells as much as you'd prefer not to. You may just feel you need to go out of your way to please and appease sensitive or aggressive individuals at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Even if you have your job or career on your mind, you could be feeling that it is time to be sociable. Look for a good reason to get out for a relaxing lunch or do happy hour with coworkers or friends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — It's one thing to uphold high standards for yourself and your own behavior. It's something else to expect everyone else to comply with your rules. Focus on making time for some fun and games later in the week.

PISCES (Feb. 19- Mar. 20) — If you've only heard one side of a story, that's all you've heard. Don't assume they understand; check in and ask if other people understand your message before you leave the meeting or the subject.

Edey scores 21 as No. 24 Purdue beats No. 8 Duke 75-56

PORTLAND, Ore. — Zach Edey and No. 24 Purdue shook off a slow start and when No. 8 Duke tried to rally in the second half, the Boilermakers finished strong to win the Phil Knight Legacy in Portland.

Edey had 21 points and 12 rebounds, and Purdue beat Duke 75-56 on Sunday in the championship game of the tournament.

Fletcher Loyer scored 18 points for Purdue (6-0), and reserve Caleb Furst finished with 11 points and 10 rebounds.

"I feel like we weren't getting the looks we wanted early. As we settled into the game, we kept our poise and kept getting the shots that we wanted," Edey said. "They were making some tough twos at the beginning of the game, shots we're OK with all season."

The 7-foot-4 Edey was 7 for 13 from the field and 7 for 8 at the line. He was named tournament MVP.

"They have the most unique player in the country," Duke coach Jon Scheyer said of Edey. "He's a hard guy to prepare for because there's nobody else like him."

Duke (6-2) shot 36.2% (21 for 58) from the field. Tyres Proctor scored 16 points for the Blue Devils. Kyle Filipowski and Jeremy Roach each had 14.

Ethan Morton had a steal and a dunk to help Purdue open a 58-41 lead with 15:37 left in the second half.

Duke countered with an 8-0 run, capped by two foul shots by Dariq Whitehead. But Furst made a layup and a jumper to help hold off the Blue Devils.

A hook by Edey and a 3-pointer by Loyer made it 68-56 with 5:03 remaining.

Duke got off to a 14-7 start before Purdue worked its way back into the game.

"I don't feel like we came out bad today, but they matched our energy," Edey said.

US earns respect at World Cup, but wins remain elusive

BY RONALD BLUM
ASSOCIATED PRESS

AL KHOR, Qatar — Respect achieved. Wins still await.

American players wanted more than a 0-0 draw with England on Friday night, likely the most-watched match of their lives.

The U.S. shut out a European opponent in the World Cup for the first time since 1950 yet left the tent-like stadium in the Arabian desert knowing a win in Tuesday's politically charged matchup with Iran is a must to reach the knockout stage.

"We dominated the game. We had the more clear-cut chances. Obviously, it sucks that we couldn't put the ball in the back of the net," said midfielder Weston McKennie, standing out with red, white and blue streaks in his hair. "There's a lot of people that obviously thought we were going to get blown out."

The British tabloid The Sun ran a headline calling the result "Yawn in the USA." England supporters booed loudly at the final whistle and American fans cheered.

"I guess that's a positive sign," U.S. star Christian Pulisic said. "Back home watching, I hope we made a lot of people proud."

Playing before what figured to be a huge Black Friday television audience, the former Colonies remained unbeaten in three World Cup matches against Ye Olde Country, a run that includes the famous 1-0 upset at Belo Horizonte, Brazil, in 1950 and the 1-1 draw at Rustenberg, South Africa, in 2010. The U.S. had conceded goals in 19 consecutive Cup matches against European opponents until Matt Turner matched Frank Borghi's clean sheet of 72 years earlier.

American fans outcheered England supporters, too, including a cheeky serenade of "It's called soccer!" in the 40th minute.

"Now I'll go back and I don't think my Leeds teammates can say anything with all the banter they were saying before," midfielder Brenden Aaronson said. "I think it does show that were going to get respect out of this game."

In 2010, England dominated 14-10 in shots and 6-4 in corner kicks. This time the U.S., using five starters from Premier League clubs, led 10-8 in shots and 7-3 in corners.

McKennie had the best U.S. chance, putting an open 9-yard attempt wide from Tim Weah's cross in the 26th minute. Seven minutes later, Pulisic bent a shot with his weaker left foot around Kieran Trippier and Bukayo Saka, and the ball glanced off a fingertip of goalkeeper Jordan Pickford and against the crossbar.

England's best opportunity came in second-half stoppage time, when Harry Kane sliced a header wide from Luke Shaw's free kick.

The U.S. wore blue tie-dyed uniforms in Bayt Stadium, which has a tent-shaped roof with an underside in a red-and-black carpet pattern. The interior is filled with the sadu pattern of the Bedouin.

Lalas: US overlooked importance to Iran of '98 Cup matchup

BY RONALD BLUM
ASSOCIATED PRESS

DOHA, Qatar — Looking back to the United States' infamous 1998 World Cup loss to Iran, Alexi Lalas thought the Americans failed to appreciate the emotional significance of their opponents.

"Understanding the importance of this game, not just from a soccer perspective but from a cultural perspective, I think is crucial for the United States," the former American defender said Sunday. "I don't think we knew how important it was to them beyond the actual World Cup. And I think actually we purposely tried to downplay a lot of the other stuff."

Politics were injected ahead of today's rematch. The U.S. Soccer Federation briefly displayed Iran's national flag on social media without the emblem of the Islamic Republic on Sunday. The USSF said it made the decision in "support for the women in Iran fighting for basic human rights."

Iran's semiofficial Tasnim news agency described the USSF as "removing the symbol of Allah" from Iran's flag.

Following draws against Wales and England, the U.S. needs a win to reach the knockout stage of its first World Cup since 2014. Team Melli, seeking to advance for the first time in six Cup appearances, would reach the round of 16 with a victory and perhaps with a draw, depending on the England-Wales match played simultaneously.

The U.S. and Iran met in Lyon, France, at the 1998 tournament, 19 years after an Islamic Revolution overthrew U.S.-backed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

Iran referred to the U.S. as the "Great Satan" and Team Melli upset the Americans 2-1 for its first World Cup win, eliminating the Americans after just two games. After losing to Germany in its group-stage finale, Iran was welcomed at Mehrabad International Airport by thousands of fans blowing trumpets and waving Iranian flags.

"If anything, you have to understand the emotion of the opponent and how that will fuel them," said former American midfielder Stu Holden, now a Fox broadcaster. "And if you don't match that energy, then you're going to come off second best."

In the first World Cup played in the Middle East, Iran opened with a 6-2 loss to England and rebounded with two late goals to beat Wales 2-0.

"I envision the game being hotly contested for the fact that both teams want to advance to the next round, not because of politics or the relations in our countries," U.S coach Gregg Berhalter said. "We're soccer players and we're going to compete, they're going to compete and that's it really."

Iranian players presented white flowers to the U.S. before the game in a gesture of peace, and American players gave their opponents USSF pennants. Both teams posed for a group photo.

Federation spokesman Neil Buethe said Brian McBride and Earnie Stewart, players from the 1998 team who now are national team executives, were not available to discuss the match.

Carr leads No. 10 Cardinals in rout without Van Lith

BY STEVE BITTENBENDER
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOUISVILLE. Ky. — Chrislyn Carr scored 17 points to lead No. 10 Louisville in a 100-37 rout of Longwood on Friday.

The Cardinals (5-2) were without Hailey Van Lith, who did not play because of an unspecified injury. The star junior guard, whose 21.2 scoring average was tied for 24th nationally entering Friday, was not needed against the Lancers (1-4) as her teammates jumped out to an 18-2 lead in the first 4:04.

Nine Louisville players scored in the first quarter, when the Cardinals shot 63.2% and led 35-10.

The 35-point period was the Cardinals' most productive since notching that many in the fourth quarter of a 100-64 victory at Syracuse on Feb. 6.

That's also the last time Louisville broke triple digits in a game.

Louisville outrebounded Longwood 57-23, and that was a point of emphasis for coach Jeff Walz as the Cardinals came back from a disappointing sixth-place finish in the Battle 4 Atlantis tournament in the Bahamas.

"For the past eight or nine years, we've had physicality. We've had shooting. We've had ballhandling, and now we don't have all of that yet," Walz said. "We're still trying to get there. We're trying to get the physicality part, which then in turn will help with the rebounding."

Carr, a graduate transfer from Syracuse, scored nine points in the first quarter.

She made 5 of 8 shots, including 5 of 7 3-pointers, and finished with a season-best seven rebounds and five assists.

Louisville shot a season-best 55.9% and had six players score in double figures.

Payton Verhulst had a career-high 16 on 7 of 9 shooting, while Morgan Jones added 15 points in just 18 minutes.

Walz said it was good for Verhulst to see the ball go in after going 4 of 20 in the Battle 4 Atlantis, and the sophomore guard added that she talked with her coaches upon returning.

"I knew coming in this year that I was going to have to play a bigger role, but I think after the Bahamas, it was a reality check for me," she said. "It's going to be not bigger than I thought, but I'm going to have to work harder than I thought."

Merissah Russell scored a career-high 11 points, and Olivia Cochran posted her second double-double of the season with 10 points and 10 rebounds. Norika Konno also scored a season-high 10 and finished with eight rebounds and seven assists, both career highs.

Adriana Shipp-Davis scored 14 points to lead the Lancers, who shot just 23%.

"I just wanted our team to come out and compete," Longwood coach Erika Lang-Montgomery said. "I knew size was going to be a factor."

VAN LITH LIKELY WEDNESDAY

Walz did not provide details about Van Lith's injury in his postgame news conference, although he indicated it was not serious.

"She could have played if she would have needed to play, but (with) an extra few days of rest, we'll just make sure it's not something that's nagging in there," he said. "So she will be fine for Wednesday night."

Louisville hosts No. 4 Ohio State on Wednesday in the Big Ten-ACC Challenge.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

Louisville has been a top-10 mainstay since the 2017 preseason poll, a stretch of 97 straight polls. Monday's 65-55 loss to South Dakota State in the Battle 4 Atlantis fifth-place game likely will end that streak.

Levis, Ruffolo carry Kentucky past rival Louisville 26-13

BY GARY B. GRAVES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON, Ky. — A rivalry game was just what Kentucky needed to snap out of a second-half tailspin and play the way it wanted.

Will Levis passed for two touchdowns, including a 3-yarder to Barion Brown in the third quarter, Matt Ruffolo kicked a career-best four field goals and the Wildcats topped archrival Louisville 26-13 on Saturday for their fourth consecutive Governor's Cup victory.

The Wildcats (7-5) limped in with five losses in seven games but regrouped to overwhelm the Cardinals (7-5) in all phases. Kentucky's defense harassed Cardinal quarterbacks Brock Domann and Malik Cunningham and forced a turnover from each leading to 10 points. Trevin Wallace's third-quarter interception of Cunningham and 19-yard return to the Louisville 16 was especially critical, setting up Levis' scoring pass to Brown three plays later for a 23-7 lead that put the game out of reach.

Earlier, J.J. Weaver stripped Domann of the football on a second-quarter sack and returned it to the 6, setting up Ruffolo's second field goal from 29 yards to make it 13-0.

"Our team responded how I believed they would," coach Mark Stoops said. "This game is important and recognized that from the moment I walked in the door. ... It's important for our football players and our staff, and I really appreciate the way we dug in, competed and finished the season."

Levis was 11 of 19 passing for 188 yards and also tossed an 8-yard TD pass to Dane Key on Kentucky's second possession. His pass to wide-open tight end Josh Kattus turned into a 70-yard catch-and-run and set the stage for his first score three plays later.

The Wildcats never trailed, even though it took another Levis TD pass for the Wildcats to really feel comfortable with Bluegrass bragging rights — again.

"Great way to end the year at home," said Levis, who beat Louisville for the second consecutive year. "The season didn't go the way we wanted and we needed the win and got it."

Chris Rodriguez Jr. rushed 24 times for 120 yards and broke the school record with his 20th 100-yard performance.

Ruffolo converted from 43, 29, 35 and 40 yards along with making both extra points for Kentucky on the way to becoming the first kicker to earn the Howard Schnellenberger Award as Most Valuable Player.

Louisville's Jawhar Jordan rushed 22 times for 145 yards, both career bests for the Syracuse transfer.

Cunningham, a four-year starter at QB, relieved an ineffective Domann in the second quarter and got Louisville (7-5, No. 25 CFP) within 13-7 just before halftime with a 6-yard TD run. His participation was somewhat surprising considering he missed last week's win over North Carolina State with an injured shoulder, and coach Scott Satterfield said afterward that Cunningham hadn't taken many snaps the past two weeks.

"Malik comes in and not fully healthy, but I felt we needed a spark," the coach added. "I appreciate the effort and the toughness."

Domann returned when Cunningham was injured again on the interception and threw a 27-yard TD pass to Tyler Hudson midway through the fourth cut the deficit to 26-13.

Officials ruled that his two-point conversion run came up short after review.

Both struggled to get anything going offensively for the Cardinals, who played catch-up all night after winning five of six coming in and entering the College Football Playoff rankings last week.

"We just did not have enough offensive firepower," Satterfield said.

FAREWELL

Before the game Kentucky honored 28 seniors including Levis, a Penn State transfer who is projected to be a first-round selection in next year's NFL draft.

Wildcats linebacker Chris Oats, whose career was ended by a stroke in May 2020, received loud cheers and an ovation.

The Cincinnati native played in 25 games over the 2018 and 2019 seasons with two bowl games before he was stricken.

He thanked teammates and fans in a Twitter post this week.

THE TAKEAWAY

Louisville: Everything that worked offensively during the Cardinals' 5-1 surge coming in failed miserably, whether Domann or Cunningham was behind center. Allowing a tight end to break an explosive play was the first sign their defense would have a long day, and it never got better.

Kentucky: Besides out-gaining Louisville 346-309 overall, the Wildcats came up just six yards short of one of the nation's top rushing teams (164-158).

Ruffolo had struggled at times this season but made every chance he got in the game that mattered — especially for teammates seeking to climb from a second-half swoon.
